JUNE FEATURED SONG

by Paul Cooper

MY FEET THEY ARE SO TENDER

The historical setting of this ballad is most likely either the War of the Spanish Succession (1701-1714) or the Seven Years War (1756-1763). High Germany refers to the mountainous, Alpine southern part of Germany. Cecil Sharp collected a version of this song in 1906, and it was actually recorded on phonograph by Percy Grainger in 1908.

You can hear the great English folksinger Martin Carthy perform this song at <https://youtu.be/S59lpPAuziM>, or on the HFMS Audio Archive page at http://www.houstonfolkmusic.org/HFS_Audio_Archive.html. If you want to play along with Martin, Capo IV. Otherwise, move the capo up or down to suit your voice range.

High Germany

Am C G Am
 "Oh Polly love, oh Polly, the rout has now begun,
 Am C G Am
 And we must go a-marching to the beating of the drum.
 Am C G
 Go dress yourself all in your best and come along with me;
 Am C G Am
 I'll take you to the war, my love, in High Germany."

"Oh Willy love, oh Willy, come list what I do say,
 My feet they are so tender, I cannot march away.
 And besides, my dearest Willy, I am with child by thee,
 Not fitted for the war, my love, in High Germany."

"I'll buy for you a horse, my love, and on it you shall ride
 And all my delight shall be a-riding by your side.
 We'll stop at every alehouse and drink when we are dry,
 We'll be true to one another, get married by and by."

Continued...

Oh, cursed be them cruel wars that ever they should rise
And out of Merry England press many a man likewise.
They pressed my true love from me, likewise my brothers three,
And sent them to the war, my love, in High Germany.

My friends I do not value nor my foes I do not fear,
Now my love has left me I wander far and near.
And when my baby it is born and a-smiling on my knee
I'll think on lovely Willy in High Germany.

“Oh Polly love, oh Polly, the rout has now begun,
And we must go a-marching to the beating of the drum.
Go dress yourself all in your best and come along with me;
I'll take you to the war, my love, in High Germany.”

LOMAX STARTS RUCKUS

by Paul Cooper

John Nova Lomax, son of HFMS member John A. Lomax III, has created an online, independent news source called Ruckus. Slanted towards stories involving Houston and Texas, John Nova covers many events and topics of interest that are often not to be found in national media. Some of you may recall that John Nova has written at length about our organization, of which his grandfather and uncle were principal founders. His byline occurred frequently in Texas Monthly for many years, where he wrote about music, sports, politics, and other topics of interest.

Check it out at Ruckus. Online subscriptions are available now.
